The image shows three rows of handwriting practice lines. Each row consists of a solid top line, a dashed midline, and a solid bottom line. In the first row, the letter 'f' is written once. In the second row, the letter 'f' is written twice. In the third row, the letter 'f' is written three times. Each letter is formed with a vertical stroke down the middle, a diagonal stroke from the middle to the top loop, and a curved hook at the bottom. A small pencil icon is positioned next to each letter to indicate where to start writing.

A diagram showing the letters 'f' and 'g' being written on lined paper. The letter 'f' is formed by a vertical stroke down, a horizontal stroke across, and a curved hook at the top. The letter 'g' is formed by a vertical stroke down, a horizontal stroke across, and a circular loop at the bottom.
