What about the « multidimensional man » ?

Sarkozy is said in French newspapers to be a good man and a serious candidate. This right wing man said in a debate with the philosopher Michel Onfray: « I'm not interested by Le Pen but the one who vote for him ». He also explains: « The homosexuality, the pedophilia and the delinquency are due to genetic characteristics ». We can wonder why such a piece of news hasn't been spread.

A NEW WORLD CHAMPION

Laure's smile after her victory

Laure Manaudou, a young french champion surf on gold!

In fact, she win five medals to Melbourne natation competition!

She win two gold medals in free swimming (200m and 400m). She win too two silver medals : 800m free swimming and 100m back.

And to finish, she win a bronze medal to hand over 4*200m free swimming.

Now, with this list of medal, us champion can take some holidays!

Congratulation Laure! And see you soon to next competition!

LE PENGLAU Robin

Curiously, those purposes journalist had written in censored paragraphs suspension points between square brackets ». However, the chief editor says: « we had to condense 2 hours and 35 minutes of interview ». This man is not unbiased because his newspaper is controlled by Lagardere a friend of Sarkozy, who controls the biggest part of French medias. We can worry for the freedom of the press when a candidate is the friend of the director of the biggest group in the French press.

Fortunately, a journalist of investigation poked his nose into this debate to disclose the horrifying new!

The patient's husband died, thanks accused

"I'm sorry to see Chantal and Laurence accused. For me, they are not accused but victims. I support them of all my heart". The one who talk, it's Michel Druais, the Paulette's widower, 65 years old, "euthanasied" this night august 2003 by two women in trial since monday at Périgueux. The doctor Laurence Tramois and the nurse Chantal Chanel risk 1130 years in prison for the Paulette Druais death's, reach a liver cancer of final degree, brought towards the death by fatal so she is living a particularly violent illness.

Laurence Tramois informed Michel Druais of her gesture several weeks alter fart, laid this last one. "She cried. I laid to her: 'You her are euthanasied?'. She told me yes. My reaction was to take her in my arms and I laid to her 'I have not a grudge against you' " he said. Neither him nor his son made a complaint. When somebody ask to him, if he was had approved the euthanasia decision, he answer: "I can't to say today of it, this was too easy. Laurence got the decision for me and I thank to her".

Before, two doctors of this small hospital of Saint-Astier had supported accused too. "In cases of young patient, relatively in good condition, the classic medicine can't afford to perlon to die quietly without a horrible clinic bulletin board" laid Christophe Bayon, associed of Catherine Tramois. "This people, we can't abandon to them" he added. The president of medical commission of hospital, the doctor Jean-Claude Charrut, explained the banality relative of « the help to die ». "Patients avant to come die in the hospital. When they are not in condition to do it, there are families who it ask" he told.

Awful misunderstanding

The doctor Tramois did in writing the fatal prescription for Paulette Druais but let it next to a assistante, and it passed on hand by hand until the nurse of night Chantal Chanel, without none dialogue. This action was criticized by Sylvie Belair, who received the prescription. Sylvie Belair maintained to have ask a team meeting and a dialogue. She got of cause the doctor personality. "I have the impression she didn't at us confidence, and this set up some tension, some pressure and sonie leak from us" said Sylvie Blair.

didn't at us confidence, and this set up some tension, some pressure and some leak from us" said Sylvie Blair. Then, the nurse Véronique Baignier-Maxant alerted the hospital direction, warned the justice. Véronique Baignier-Maxant explained she have not wanted this. "I wanted to sort out a serious lack of communication. If I had knew Chantal Chanel was in trial... it's horrible», she said in cry. "It's the way whose this was did my shocked, the fart to do a prescription at a nurse without even to see her" said Frédéric Lanneau, administrative executive. According to she, the doctor Tramois "terrified" nurses by his authoritative character. But Mr Pierre-olivier Sur Chantal Chanel lawyer's, this case was beared in front of the justice in reason a "awful misunderstanding". The court had the specified this at witnesses: the night at Saint-Astier, only a nurse and five assistantes are of departement for 200 beds, of which six in "life end". None doctor never is not present. Chantal Chanel was atone when she did the fatal injection.

Heat wave in prospect for the next summer

A recent study of an English university has just announced a canicular summer 2007. According to this source, the foreseeable temperatures will be higher than those recorded in the summer 2003.

This alarmist information reinforces the fear of the people who are persuaded that one soft winter will lead obligatorily to a heat wave.

The ministry for health already starts to sensitize people: one will need an increased monitoring of the fragile people like the children or the old people.
