Three old friends meet in a café. They speak about their different musical tastes.

"Now I prefer R'N'B to rock. I don't know why but surely because of the new musical trend", said Roxanne.

"As for me, I'm into rock. I am fan of Elvis Presley because I'm crazy about his musical style. And... He was so good-looking. And what about you, Maxime?" Charlotte asked and Maxime answered:

"I am more turned to POP. Particularly Mickael Jackson. He has a unique voice! But I hate R'N'B because I don't care about young singers who always say "FUCK, FUCK, FUCK"."

"I disagree with you because they defend their opinions and explains their way of thinking," Roxanne replied.

"It really bugs me because I have the impression to come back ten years ago. Today we are not children anymore. We need everything to make a world. " Charlotte explained.

And Maxime said " Excuse-me Roxanne. I didn't think what I said. "
